

Jennifer Dogin

Director of Smart Mobility Solutions, North America, MasterCard

Ms. Jennifer Dogin has worked for Mastercard for over 20 years, most recently as the Director of Smart Mobility Solutions for the US. In this role her focus is on urban transit ecosystems and how to build smarter transit payment solutions. She has extensive experience working with transit agencies, systems integrators, consultants, mobile technology providers and financial institutions. She is also passionate about financial inclusion and the ways in which secure integrated technology can benefit not only industry players but also underserved communities.

Prior to her current role, Ms. Dogin led product management functions for both chip and digital solution sets. She started her career working in payments consulting and has worked with some of the largest financial institutions in the world.
