- Adopting a collaborative approach, Brad is currently responsible for identifying new opportunities to unlock further value, for both MAG and the Clients we work with
- He brings with him a wealth of experience of redevelopment and change management programmes
- Most recently he led the Integration of London Stansted Airport into the group, following MAG's acquisition in February 2013, for $2.4bn
- This involved working closely with Stansted's Managing Director, to ensure our new colleagues were welcomed to MAG and understood that we wanted to invest immediately
- Reporting to MAG's Chief Executive Officer and the Board, Brad led the team to ensure all aspects of separating London Stansted Airport from Heathrow were achieved in line with cost, time and quality expectations as well as the delivery of our investment projects – while maintaining the safety and security of our operations
- Brad has previously been Managing Director for MAG, at East Midlands Airport, Major Projects Director (where he had responsibility for the Group's capital delivery and procurements teams)
- Prior to joining MAG Brad held senior roles at Atkins Faithful & Gould and Cyril Sweett in Project Management and Cost Consultancy
